I'm hangin'...

Guess what? I have just unlocked the level in Harry Potter, with the whomping willow, it's really hard. The A is green, that means yes; the B is red, that means no.

This is Hardey. I am watching his feet because my chair is tilted.

That was the best. I put my hand in the ball run and hoped I would get my knuckles smacked!

This is the incredible robot and it has shot the tank. These are all the StarWars people, they are attacking the tank. They can't attack the tank because it is already dead and hard, like wood but like stone. It is as strong as wood and as strong as stone but it is made out of very hard iron. So they attacked the underdroid.

I love playing with mobilo, I make lots of cool things.

It was the worst, walking around and I didn't like showing off. It was the best taking pictures and me smiling. It made my arms sore, trying to flap my arms. First I did big wings, then I did mini wings, then I just walked.

This is in Polly's class.

They were the best in my entire life. The end.

I am eating my break. That was when I got break instead of having to bring break from home.

Me when I am playing on the playground after Hardey's show.

I'm making a guy that will fit in my ship but it couldn't because it was actually a little too big.

It was very hard doing gym at Ying Li's. I liked going on the rings and the runny race where you get hit with the balls.

This is in Liz's class. We were making icecream with banana, grapes and yoghurt.

This is me and it's Liz taking the picture.

I don't remember going near any snake!

I had a toy camel and I was taking pictures.
